3 charged in drug murder

BELLE GLADE—Three men have been charged with first degree murder in the shooting death of a Belle Glade man on Tuesday, Jan. 31.

Belle Glade Police detectives filed charges against Larry Johnson, 25, 35 Everglades Project, Belle Glade; Wilber Campbell, 22, 90 Bethune St., Belle Glade; and Marvin Barnett, 23, 175 Greenfront Bar, South Bay.

Charges came after the death of Augustus Reed, 37, 240 SW 8th St., a Jamaican, from apparent gun shot wounds at about 3 p.m.

Tuesday, in 425 W. Avenue A, Apartment 4, Belle Glade.

Detective John Carney said the death was apparently drug related.

Officers have recovered a handgun which, based on the statements of one of those charged, is believed to be the murder weapon, Carney said. Ballistic tests had not been taken as of press time.

Carney said officers responded to a call at 3 p.m., at 425 W. Avenue A. Reed was found lying on the floor, bleeding from apparent gunshot wounds.

Six pounds of marijuana was found in the room along with narcotics paraphernalia and an amount of cash, he noted.

Carney said Reed was believed to be the victim of a "ripoff" in midst of a marijuana transaction.

After several hours of investigation, the three suspects were apprehended and arrested. Johnson was picked up in the Okeechobee Projects at about 10:30 p.m. Barnett was apprehended at about midnight in South Bay.

Campbell was also picked up in South Bay at about 3 a.m., Wednesday.

All three are being held in the county jail without bond.

An autopsy of Reed was scheduled for Wednesday.

The entire Belle Glade detective bureau was involved in the investigation. Detective Michael Johnson was the reporting officer.

The Palm Beach County Medical Examiner's office also assisted in the investigation.

'1st step' taken to 4-laning SR 80

Someone said it was a four-lane meeting in a two-lane room.

Organizers of a caucus on State Road 80 held in the Clewiston Inn's Sugar and Spice Room were surprised by the number of people who turned out to demand the four-laning of SR 80 coast to coast Friday, Jan. 27.

Clewiston Chamber of Commerce officials had been predicting between 40 and 60 attendees. They got well over 100, about 30 of whom stood throughout the two-hour meeting.

Rep. James Watt noted wryly that "apparently we have a problem with seating."

Watt went on to term the meeting a "first step" toward gaining a commitment to extending four-laning of the highway to Fort Myers.

Four-laning for most of SR 80 east to West Palm Beach has already been included in the Department of Transportation's five-year plan.

Elected officials from four counties, as well as business and other civic leaders, were among those present.

"We need to look down the road and decide

Underwood qualifies for SB election

SOUTH BAY—Mike Underwood qualified to run for a South Bay City Commission seat, Tuesday, Jan. 31, becoming the first person eligible for the March 13 election.

Underwood, 30, 345 S.E. Third Ave., is running in Group One for the seat currently occupied by Willie Marshall.

The assistant recreation director for Belle Glade, Underwood said he hoped his experience with city government would aid him as a South Bay commissioner.

"I feel like you have to run the city like a business," he said. Underwood said if elected, he would try to represent the beliefs and thoughts of the community.

"We can work together as a city. We need to pull together to survive," he said.

Underwood has been employed by the city of Belle Glade for about four years. A resident of the Glades for nine years, he has lived in

MARIAN SMITH of Clewiston died in this accident Monday

Clewiston woman dies in crash

A Clewiston woman died at the scene of the accident after her car collided with a semi-truck on US 27, 17 miles south of South Bay, Monday, Jan. 30.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol report, Marian L. Smith, 39, 1514 Ridgill Road, Lot 19, Clewiston, was killed when a semi veered into the southbound lane of the highway, colliding with a 1980 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Smith.

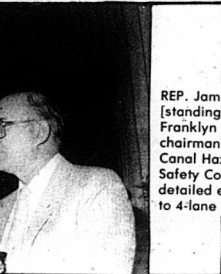

Smith's husband Vernon Smith, 60, survived the accident and was reported in good condition at Glades General Hospital, in Belle Glade.

The driver of the semi, Frank John Martinez, 59, of Valrico, reportedly had possible injuries. Charges are pending.

According to the troopers' report, the semi was northbound on US 27, and the pickup was southbound. The semi attempted to stop for a vehicle in front of it and then jackknifed in the southbound lane, according to the report.

The pickup struck the semi in the right side with its left front.

The pickup was totaled. Trooper Keith Westphal was the reporting officer and Trooper D.A. Poole was the homicide investigator.

REP. James Watt [standing] and Franklin Jones, chairman of the Canal Hazards Safety Committee, detailed efforts to 4-lane SR 80.

South Bay Crime Watch explained

By TOM KISKEN

SOUTH BAY—Residents of South Bay are getting involved in crime fighting.

Leaders of the newly founded South Bay Crime Watch, Inc. held an organizational meeting, Thursday, Jan. 26.

About 15 local residents listened to program leaders and city police officials explain how the crime watch program can help South Bay.

South Bay Chief of Police Roy L. Humston Jr. said, "I think it's the only way we can effectively reduce crime."

Cpl. Raymond M. Burghoff agreed, "It's up to all of us (the community). If we want it to work, we can make it work."

Those who attended Thursday's meeting have volunteered to be either zone chairmen, or block leaders. South Bay has been split up into 11 zones, with each chairperson responsible for crime watch groups in one unit.

Each zone has been split up into blocks. Zone leaders will meet regularly and pass information on to block leaders who will distribute the news to crime watch members.

Crime Watch Chairman Keith Whitlock said the next step for the South Bay group is to recruit members. Hopefully, all interested residents in the community will be contacted by block leaders, he said.

Basically, the goal of Crime Watch is to bring

Schnellenberger recruits local talent

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE—A hurricane never received a warmer reception than the one which hit Belle Glade, Thursday, Jan. 26.

Howard Schnellenberger landed in a helicopter on the Glades Central Community High School's football field, Thursday morning, offering two graduating Raiders the chance to play with his national champion University of Miami Hurricanes football team.

Rhondy Weston and Tim Sims met with Schnellenberger for about 30 minutes, discussing the University of Miami's football and academic program.

Both Weston, the Parade Magazine all-American defensive tackle, and Sims, all-conference and all-area defensive back and tailback, said, after speaking to the coach, that they were interested in Miami. However, neither would commit to any particular school.

Schnellenberger, on the other hand, had no qualms about expressing his interest in the two Raider stars.

"I wouldn't be here, if they weren't dagdum good prospects," he said.

Both men have the athletic ability to contribute to the Canes program, Schnellenberger, adding that Weston and Sims are also excellent students and overall "fine young men."

While Schnellenberger did not see the two young men in action, assistant coaches did at recent Raider games this year and returned with excellent reports, the coach said.

Weston would probably end up as a defensive tackle, he also played as the Raider center, and Sims would be in the defensive backfield for the Canes, Schnellenberger said.

Asked if either would have a chance to start as freshmen, the coach said that is not what is he looking for, rather just good prospects which will contribute.

Schnellenberger said he has spent all his time since the Orange Bowl victory over Nebraska, recruiting talent for next year's squad.

"This will be the best freshmen class we've had by far. The national championship really opens doors," he commented.

About the goals for next year's squad, the coach doesn't beat around the bush. "We're the only team in the county with the chance to be national champs for the second straight year."

Weston and Sims admitted the opportunity to help the Canes repeat is quite tempting.

They each said they would have to carefully consider all the offers they have received in the next couple weeks. Prospects have until Feb. 8, back the days when neighbors watched out for each other, Whitlock said.

Burghoff said all a Crime Watch member has to do is keep an eye open for any suspicious activity and then report it. "All we want is that initial call," he said.

Humston urged residents not to hesitate before calling. "Even if nine calls turn out to be nothing, the tenth may be the one we want," he said.

The 24-hour report line is 996-6511. Inquiries about Crime Watch are also directed to this number.

Burghoff stressed that identities of members who report calls are kept secret. Members only reveal their Crime Watch number when reporting calls.

Names corresponding with numbers are known by just one person—the chief of police, Burghoff said.

Even if a case goes to court and law officials think they need the name of the member who reported the crime, charges will be dropped unless the member agrees to release his name, Burghoff said.

"You don't have to get involved. You don't have to go to court. All we want is that initial phone call," he said.

Whitlock pointed to the Belle Glade Crime Watch program as an indication of the effectiveness of community involvement.

Over 2,000 residents in Belle Glade have joined Crime Watch, Whitlock said. The number of crimes committed in the city, especially drug related offenses, have fallen significantly since the inception of Crime Watch, he added.

Noting that Belle Glade had some administrative difficulties with their program, Whitlock said he hoped the South Bay group could learn from the Belle Glade's mistakes.

One of the first acts of the South Bay group, Whitlock said, will be to put up crime watch signs along US 27 and SR 80.

Additional signs, stating that a neighborhood is a member of Crime Watch, will be put up throughout South Bay.

The program has been funded totally by donations. Humston commented community businesses deserve a great deal of credit for getting the program on its feet.

Because of the community support there is no membership fee, he added.

Crime Watch Treasurer Jessie Clark reported the group has about $1,428 in its treasury.

After the meeting, Whitlock said plans for the group really began rolling about three weeks ago, although the idea of a crime watch program had been discussed for quite awhile.

The next meeting of zone chairpersons will be held Thursday, Feb. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

South Bay for about four years.

Prior to being hired by the city, Underwood was a history teacher at Glades Day.

City Clerk Virginia Walker accepted Underwood's qualifying papers and read him a loyalty oath.

While the city is handling qualification, the county supervisor of election's office will be responsible for all other aspects, including tabulation which will take place in West Palm Beach.

In addition to Marshall, Commissioner Rennick Morris is also up for reelection.

Tuesday was the first day to qualify for the two commission seats up for election. Although Underwood was the only one to qualify as of Tuesday, at least two other people had picked up qualification packets.

The last day to qualify is Tuesday, Feb. 14. The last day to register to vote in the city election is Saturday, Feb. 11.

A run-off election, if needed will be held Tuesday, March 27. The run-off election is only used, if no candidate gains a majority of the vote.

Man jumps 3 stories to his death

PAHOKEE — A Pahokee man died after reportedly jumping from a third floor window ledge at his home, Monday, Jan. 30.

Pahokee police and Glades substation sheriff's official's responded to a call of a possible death at about 4:45 a.m. and found Lazaro Jimenez, 33, 155 E. Main St., lying dead on the sidewalk in front of his home.

A witness told detectives that she saw the man climb out a window, walk to the edge and jump. Other witnesses claimed Jimenez was very depressed about some unknown personal problems.

Results of an autopsy report done Monday, listed head injuries incurred from the fall as cause of the death.

The case report was filed by Detective Chet Simmons, of the Glades substation Sheriff's office.

Sword-wielder apprehended

BELLE GLADE — A man with a sword caused a bit of excitement in Belle Glade, Friday, Jan. 27.

Fred Hancock, 21, 209 East Canal St. N., Apt. 1, was arrested Friday afternoon after Friday police received a call reporting a man running around the neighborhood with a sword.

Detective John Carney reported that after a short game of hide-and-seek, Hancock was apprehended in Russell's Pool Hall, and charged with improper exhibition of a deadly weapon, possession of marijuana under 20 grams and possession of narcotic's paraphernalia.

Carney said officers responded to the call at about 2 p.m. Told by a witness that the man had gone back to his apartment, the officers headed to the apartment building.

Finding no one in what they believed to be his apartment, but hearing noises out of a next door apartment, officers knocked on the door and received no answer.

Carney said they suspected the man might have been in the apartment and just refused to answer.

Ill-chosen words...

State Sen. Don C. Childers was in all likelihood trying to be factual and realistic Friday, Jan. 27, when he expressed his views on four-laning SR 80 for Palm Myers.

Childers stated that traffic to Fort Myers does not justify the proposed four-laning at this time. The entire thrust of his comments seemed to be toward protecting funding for Palm Beach County Roads at the expense of anyone else.

We believe that anyone with the length of government service that Sen. Childers has should have been able to state his case a bit more diplomatically.

Unless of course Sen. Childers said exactly what we wanted to say and the words were exactly as he intended them.

In that case we take strong objection to what he said.

We believe SR 80 should be four-laned coast to coast and that planning for it should start immediately.

We recognize that there are potential hazards to all government programs posed by Proposition One — a measure that we believe is dangerous and unrealistic.

We believe that progress made with SR 80 east of the Glades should not be jeopardized. And that at the same time the steps taken to go west with the four laning should be supported and encouraged.

We applaud the efforts of the broadly-based group that met Friday. And if Sen. Childers is not already on that bandwagon, we hope he soon joins it.

How did she ever do it?

Last Saturday a number of people were on hand to honor Beryl Bowden at a reception held in The Clewiston News building. The occasion gave many of us the opportunity to show our appreciation for what this gracious lady has meant to community journalism in the Glades.

I don't know quite when the term "community journalism" first came into use. When Mrs. Bowden began "newspapering" and some years later when I first became a reporter, there were "dailies" and there were "weeklies" plus a few "bi-weeklies." During the 1950s, the small dailies and many of the weeklies began disappearing, squeezed out by the big dailies, which could do everything bigger and better — almost everything, that is. What they didn't do was to provide communities with full accounts of their local events — from social and school affairs to government reports. The small papers that survived were those their communities supported; others fell by the wayside, victims, for the most part, of too little advertising revenue in the face of rising production costs.

And even among the weeklies that did survive, many were "hokey," which is to say they were poorly written and composed, shabby looking. They continued to survive because they filled a community's need. But they did nothing for its pride!

Those of us who must make frequent use of the newspaper "back files" have commented aloud from time to time on the quality of the News and The Glades County Democrat of the past. They, of course, reflect the standards Mrs. Bowden set and maintained.

Was this such a feat? Weren't men sharp as Luth Jones in Belle Glade, Howard Sharp in Canal Point and Paul Rardin in Pahokee doing the same? Yes, but they were men. Does that mean they were more talented because they were men? Not at all. It means that Beryl Bowden was holding her own, and then some, in an era when women editors (never mind, publishers) were a rarity.

Ailsa Dewing

"And What Not"

Between 1929, when Mrs. Bowden was first associated with newspapers and 1946, when I started as a cub reporter, not much had changed in the way a newspaper was produced. Another thing that hadn't changed was the kind of jobs women were considered capable of doing. Women with college degrees were often considered fit only for writing "the socials." Admittedly, this had changed by the late '40s but not to the point where a woman could write "sports," for heaven's sake! And no daily with which I was familiar would have elevated a woman to the rank of editor, in those days.

In all fairness, it was not necessarily male ego that shut women out of the field. The actual production of a newspaper was manual labor — heavy work and dirty. As for the editorial department — the police station, the courtroom, the locker room and even the proverbial smoke-filled rooms of politicians weren't considered the realm of genteel ladies. Very often, a woman gave up the chance to compete with the male reporters took more gaff from her fellow members of the press than she did from her "sources." It was enough to make a "tough brood" out of any woman journalist.

I, for one, don't find it amazing that Beryl Bowden is a fine newspaperwoman, who over the years has earned the respect and admiration of her peers, as well as her community. The wonderment to me is that she accomplished what she did and remained a very gracious lady.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor: The Herald-Observer dated January 26, 1984, was a superb example of your fine newspaper. The articles and columns by Kiskens, Brown, Bunting, Jones, Dewing, and Bate, and others (with their bylines) were well written and informative. The pieces were lengthy enough to cover the subject matter and included much background information and current facts.

The layout of the entire paper and each page was very professional from the front page, through the editorial page, through the news pages, crime page, club news pages, school page, and finally the classifieds. Much thought, expertise and hard work went into producing every week for Belle Glade and Pahokee.

Stolen goods not necessarily lost

By TOM KISKEN

Unless you have a serial or identification number on your property, you can wave goodbye to any stolen goods, according to the Florida Bureau of Sheriff's Office detectives.

Detectives Paul Copeland and Steve Haller, of the Sheriff's Glades substation, urged local residents to identify their property with the Farm Bureau number on it, he can almost immediately locate the owner.

"The Farm Bureau is a great asset to us," Copeland said.

As evidence that the identification number really works, Copeland recalled a recent report of stolen property.

Last August, Vinegar Bend's Farms reported that a lowboy trailer had been stolen.

On Jan. 17, detectives recovered the low boy and returned it, solely because it was identified with a Farm Bureau number, Copeland said.

"Vinegar Bends wouldn't have that low boy today with that number, because I couldn't have proven that it was their low boy," he said.

Copeland said he learned the stolen property might be located somewhere in Medley, near Miami.

Working on a lead from a private investigator, Ray Bennett, Copeland and other detectives asked and received permission to search property owned by Alvaro Romero, of Medley.

Driving through the land, Copeland removed the saw a number on a tire of a low boy and stopped for another look. Tracing the number through the sheriff's computer, Copeland discovered he had found the stolen low boy.

Today, Vinegar Bends has their low boy and, in addition, Copeland said he is close to making two arrests on the case.

"That is evidence the system works," Copeland said.

Dr. David T. Evans

Everglades Presbyterian Church

Society imposes restrictions on everyone who chooses to be a member of it. Religious groups limit actions of its membership or they face ostracization.

Jesus, a self-styled Rabbi, preached and performed miracles. Besides this, His disciples did not wash properly before meals and He even healed a man of blindness on the Sabbath.

"...the Jews took up stones again to stone him. Jesus answered them, 'I have shown you many good works from the Father; for which of these do you stone me?' The Jews answered him, 'We stone you for no good work but for blasphemy; because you, being a man, make yourself God.'"

The Jews wanted Jesus to play the game and only their way. He had not conformed to their regulation mainly paying homage to the Jewish customs which were so important.

Jesus even answered their charge of blasphemy. "It is not written in your law, 'I said you are good?' If He called them gods to whom the word of God came (and scripture cannot be broken), do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, 'You are blaspheming,' because I said, 'I am the Son of God?' (John 10:34-36)

Jesus was saying I have been set apart as David the King was set apart and consecrated. I was anointed by the Holy Spirit and baptized by John the Baptist. He then said, "...If I am not doing the works of my Father, then do not believe in me. But if I do these works, that you may know and understand that the Father is in me and I am in the Father..." (John 10:37,38)

Jesus did everything — preached, healed, taught, even fed. He acted in love and compassion. He proved His case before all peoples. Yet they were ready to stone Him.

Jesus shows wisdom, courage, and love toward those who sought to stone Him, or at least to arrest Him.

The unlettered teacher from Nazareth argues with the Jews in the best biblical style, he quoted Psalm 82:6 in which God says to the Judges of Israel, "I said, ye are gods, and all of you sons of the Most High."

If inspired scripture allowed the title of gods and sons of the Most High, how much more could He, who was anointed by the Father, claim the title of Son of God.

Jesus showed courage because He knew that the Jews had decided to kill Him. Stoning was a violent and ugly way to die.

The Jews did not have to have a trial. Stoning could be done on the basis of two witnesses. In a crowd in the Temple area where the Temple police would be of no protection. He had no chance. Jesus was in complete harmony with the will of God and trusted God the Father to protect him.

Jesus showed love even toward the Jews who hated Him and threatened Him. Jesus was acting within the purpose of God.

Always Jesus was trying to convince by words and deeds. God's offer of salvation. He did this out of love.

Today we must act wisely, courageously and lovingly. People will not always agree with us. Pressures may be placed upon us, but we must act within the will of God.

List of city manager duties discussed in Pahokee

By TOM KISKEN

PAHOKEE—Pahokee City Council members agreed to formulate a list of duties for a city manager in a workshop, Tuesday evening, Jan. 31.

The council discussed how to proceed with the city manager issue at the workshop.

Council President Ada Conley said, "I think we all agree that something needs to be done." Conley asked other council members and interested city residents to draw up a list of the things they would like a city manager to do. The council will discuss their ideas further in their special meeting scheduled for Tuesday night, Feb. 7.

Attorney Mike Steusser advised the council that in all likelihood a public referendum and city charter change would be needed, if a city manager was to be hired. If the manager inherits any power, or duties currently assumed by a city official, a public vote would be needed, he said.

Council Member Walter Rashley reminded the council only nine weeks remain to get a city manager referendum on the May general election ballot.

Rashley suggested the council consider adding a city manager and retaining the current elected positions of mayor and chief of police.

He also suggested the city clerk's position be an appointed seat.

Conley agreed with this setup, saying that one of the main reasons people had voted against a city manager proposal in the past was because they did not want the mayor and chief positions eliminated.

A member of the audience, Randall Sims said he felt the public would support a manager type of government as an addition, rather than a replacement, of the current setup.

Council Members William E. McKinstry said that while he favored the city manager system as a replacement of the current system, he was willing to consider other proposals.

McKinstry commented, "I don't think the city manager system is going to be effective unless he is given the whole city to run."

Pahokee Chamber of Commerce President Jim Bennett indicated the business community favored dropping the elected positions of mayor, police chief and clerk, but were also willing to compromise in order to get a manager.

Bennett was among those who supported changing the clerk's position to an appointed office. This change would increase job security and assure the clerk that she was being judged solely on performance and not popularity, he said.

Betty McCoy, city clerk for the past 17 years, said the clerk's duties require some continuity. It would be in the city's best interest to have an appointed clerk," she said.

Mayor Duncan Padgett asked council members to specify the benefits a city manager would bring Pahokee. "If you can show me that it'll be better for the city, then I'll work toward it," he said.

A city manager could easily turn out to be large investment with little return, Padgett said. "I'm not in favor of spending $100,000 a year, if the city's not going to be any better off," he said.

Conley said one benefit of a city manager would be the pressure he would take off the city clerk. A city manager would free the clerk to concentrate on her specific duties, Conley said, adding that currently McCoy is asked "to do just about everything."

McCoy said, "We need someone, whatever you call him."

Utilities Director Bill Cross suggested the council consider hiring a finance director, rather than a city manager. A finance director would directly help take some of the budgeting burden from the clerk, Cross said.

Conley said a finance director would help fill the need, adding that titles did not mean anything as long as the additional employee helped the city.

McKinstry said the council would get exactly what they hired. By limiting the job, the benefits will also be limited, he said. "I don't believe you're going to get a qualified man who is going to be half a manager," he said.

John Johnson, a city resident attending the workshop, said she thought the city needed some type of manager to stop problems before they arise.

The manager could help Pahokee plan for the future, Johnson said. Planning, she added, is one of the city's most severe needs.

"I think everyone would benefit from a city manager," she summarized. Mead Maxwell, also speaking from the audience, said he thought the council needed to pinpoint the city's needs and then consider a manager. "Can you boil all this down into one problem?" he asked council members.

The city might benefit from an outside analysis to help determine what needs are, Maxwell said, suggesting that an organization such as the Florida League of Cities be contacted.

EXTINGUISHING bagasse fire.

Bagasse piles burn at Atlantic

An estimated $50,000 worth of bagasse piles at the Atlantic Sugar Association Plant, SR 80, caught on fire Friday morning, Jan. 27.

Jose Alvarez, assistant vice president and general manager of the plant, said no one was injured in the fire which reportedly began at about 10 a.m. due to sparks from a nearby cane

The proximity of the blaze to fuel tanks and to the plant itself had officials concerned. Alvarez said, noting however, that flames were kept from spreading.

Helping employees control the fire were units from the Florida Forestry Department and Military Park in West Palm Beach.

Alvarez expressed his appreciation to all those who volunteered to help, pointing particularly to other mills. The Sugar Cane Growers Coop and United States Sugar Corp. were among those who offered their service, he said.

At the same time employees were trying to prevent the bagasse fire from spreading, another cane fire about a half-mile from the plant spread temporarily out of control.

Because men and water wagons were needed at the plant, the field fire was not given as much attention as is the norm. Alvarez said. As a result eight fields of cane were burned instead of the planned four.

Alvarez said no damage was caused by the cane fire. The additional fields were to be burned soon anyway, he noted.

Gators win 4th straight

BELLE GLADE Glades Day had wins under their belts, the Glades Day Gators basketball team is beginning to shape up, according to Coach Kelly Beckham. Beckham said if his Gators can keep improving, anything could happen when playoff time rolls around.

In the past week the Gators squeaked by Evangelical Christian in Fort Myers, 64-62, on Saturday, Jan. 28, beat Christian Day School 73-50 on Friday and survived a home game against LaBelle, 41-37 on Thursday.

The Gators rode the last second 35-foot basket of Brian Lohmann to victory over Evangelical Christian.

Lady Gators show improvement

BELLE GLADE Day, 46-19, Wednesday. The team played well against Evangelical, McCarthy noted.

Center Rhonda Hudson led the team with 8 points and 10 rebounds. Jamie Willis had 4 points and 13 rebounds. Michelle Marotta - also played well.

LaBelle proved to be a bit too much for the Gators, as they controlled the entire game.

CDS girls lose to Kings

BELLE GLADE -The Christian Day Schools girls basketball team lost to Kings Crusaders Academy, 57-26, Friday, Jan. 27.

The West Palm Beach girls took advantage of their size

13 rebounds.

The LaBelle victory was another squeaker. The Gators led just about the entire way, but the Cowboys were nipping at their heels toward the end.

Beckham said the Gator defense was a key to the LaBelle victory.

Schlechter scored 14 points for Glades Day, while Lohmann added 10.

CDS cagers split with Gators, Indian River

BELLE GLADE -The Christian Day School basketball squad had a decisive week, they won big and lost big.

The Crusaders were beaten by Glades Day, 73-50, Friday, Jan. 27, and whalloped Indian River, 95-52. The even week put the team's season record at 4-11.

Christian Day got off to a slow start against the Gators and just never quite caught up.

Jose Garcia led the Crusaders with 11 points and 10 re-

BELLE GLADE -By the narrowest of margins, the Glades Central Raiders dropped their third game of the season, 50-49, to Martin County in the Glades Central gym, Saturday, Jan. 28.

The loss dropped the Raiders one notch in state Class 3A standings to fifth. The team's overall record now stands at 17-3.

Earlier in the week on Friday, Jan. 27, the Raiders rolled over Spanish River at home, 101-23.

Coach Harold Taylor said that while the team's last two defeats have been very disappointing, goals for the future are still aimed at the top.

"We have seven games left in the regular season and six in the playoffs to win the state championship. We want to go 13-0," he said.

The Raiders have made too many physical and mental errors in recent weeks, Taylor said. He expressed confidence that the team can overcome these errors in the future.

One thing going for the Raiders, Taylor said, is the help of video tapes of recent performances. Thanks to the tapes, the players have seen what they have been doing wrong, and are working to improve.

The Martin County game was a nail biter from start to finish.

The momentum switched back and forth in the final minutes. First Glades Central surged from behind to take the lead, then Martin County regained the advantage.

With just about a minute left, Martin's Harold Williams hit a three-point play to give his team a one-point edge.

The Raiders brought the ball up for one last try with 34 seconds left, but with big man Rhondy Weston on the bench with five fouls, they could only manage a desperate 30-foot jumper which went awry.

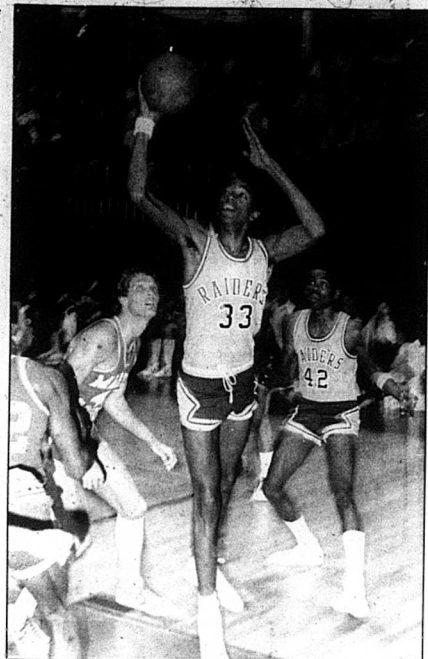

Taylor said his team simply had a poor game.

The second quarter was "just a disaster," he added. Martin scored 22 of their 50 points in this quarter alone.

The Martin County press came alive in the second quarter. Taylor said his Raiders had some problems with the press that "we just shouldn't have had."

Taylor also acknowledged that in Martin County the Raiders were playing an exceptional team. The Class 4A school took home a

Schnellenberger—

the first day to sign letters of intent, to make their choice.

Both noted they had received offers and letters from colleges all over the country.

Sims, 6-foot-tall and 204 pounds, said he has narrowed his choice down to either Miami, or Florida State. He has visited both these campuses along with the University of West Virginia and the University of Illinois.

Weston said he had an idea of what his decision might be, but declined to elaborate. The 6-foot-5, 247-pound tackle, also an offensive center for the Raiders, has visited several campuses including Miami, Florida State, Clemson and Auburn.

He plans on visiting the University of Florida campus next week.

The two teammates said they would like to play together in college if possible. "We've talked about it a lot," Weston said.

If the two decide to head toward Miami they could have at least one more friend on the team. Clewiston High School standout lineman Wycliffe Lovelace is being recruited by Schnellenberger. In fact, the coach took his chopper to visit Lovelace after leaving Belle Glades Thursday.

Weston and Sims each commented they are considering more than just a school's athletic program. Academics, they said, are important.

Whatever choice the two make, their inevitable absence from the Raider gridiron squad will be sorely missed.

Both men are also tracksters. Weston is a discus thrower and Sims a sprinter.

Weston, an all-state basketball player, said some universities are interested in his hoops talents. However, he stressed that he is limiting himself to football in college.

Gators win 4th straight

BELLE GLADE — Glades Day had opened up a 12-point lead in the second quarter, but were caught by Evangelical and had to rely on Lohmann's last second heroics.

Beckham said if his Gators can keep improving, anything could happen when playoff time rolls around.

In the past week the Gators squeaked by Evangelical Christian on Fort Myers, 64-62, on Saturday, Jan. 28, beat Christian Day School 73-50 on Friday and survived a home game against LaBelle, 41-37 on Thursday.

The Gators rode the last second 35-foot basket of Brian Lohmann to victory over Evangelical Christian.

Lady Gators show improvement

BELLE GLADE — While the Glades Day girls' basketball team dropped two games this week, Coach Jan McCarthy said the team continues to learn.

"We're doing okay," she said, noting that after losing seven players from last year, the team is rebuilding.

The Gators lost to Evangelical Christian in a close game, Friday, Jan. 28, 28-24. LaBelle beat Glades

Day, 46-19, Wednesday.

The team played well against Evangelical, McCarthy noted.

Center Rhonda Hudson led the team with 8 points and 10 rebounds. Jamie Willis had 4 points and 13 rebounds. Michelle Marotta also played well.

LaBelle proved to be a bit too much for the Gators, as they controlled the entire game.

CDS girls lose to Kings

BELLE GLADE — The Christian Day School girls' basketball team lost to Kings Academy, 57-26, Friday, Jan. 27.

The West Palm Beach girls took advantage of their size

as they controlled the boards and the game.

Individually for the Crusaders, Angie Miller had 11 points and 7 rebounds. Brandi Schunk had 8 points.

the first day to sign letters of intent, to make their choice.

Both noted they had received offers and letters from colleges all over the country.

Sims, 6-foot-tall and 204 pounds, said he has narrowed his choice down to either Miami, or Florida State. He has visited both these campuses along with the University of West Virginia and the University of Illinois.

Weston said he had an idea of what his decision might be, but declined to elaborate. The 6-foot-5, 247-pound tackle, also an offensive center for the Raiders, has visited several campuses including, Miami, Florida State, Clemson and Auburn.

He plans on visiting the University of Florida campus next week.

The two teammates said they would like to play together in college if possible. "We've talked about it a lot," Weston said.

If the two decide to head toward Miami they could have at least one more friend on the team. Clewiston High School standout lineman Wycliffe Lovelace is being recruited by Schnellenberger. In fact, the coach took his chopper to visit Lovelace after leaving Belle Glade Thursday.

Weston and Sims each commented they are considering more than just a school's athletic program. Academics, they said, are important.

Whatever choice the two make, their inevitable absence from the Raider gridiron squad will be sorely missed.

Both men are also tracksters. Weston a discus thrower and Sims a sprinter.

Weston, an all-state basketball player, said some universities are interested in his hoops talents. However, he stressed that he is limiting himself to football in college.

CDS cagers split with Gators, Indian River

BELLE GLADE — The Christian Day School basketball squad had a decisive week, they won big and lost big.

The Crusaders were beaten by Glades Day, 73-50, Friday, Jan. 27, and whalloped Indian River, 95-52. The even week put the team's season record at 4-11.

Christian Day got off to a slow start against the Gators and just never quite caught up.

Jose Garcia led the Crusaders with 11 points and 10 rebounds. Jose Ramos also had 10 boards.

The story was different at Indian River, as the Crusaders controlled the contest from the onset. Christian Day controlled the boards and shot 49 percent from the field on the way to victory.

Five players scored in double figures for Christian Day. Ramos scored 20 points for the Crusaders. Garcia and Tim Mann had 12, while Mario Vigas and Angel Matos had 10 points.

Glades Central girls maintain perfect record

BELLE GLADE — The Glades Central girls' cagers improved their record to 14-0 with two wins this week.

The girls beat Lake Worth Saturday, Jan. 30, 60-32 and also demolished Spanish River Thursday, 92-36.

Coach Graham Frost said that although the girls controlled the Lake Worth game the entire way they didn't play as well as they could.

"We haven't reached point we are supposed to yet," he said.

Individually,

Patricia Holmes had an outstanding game with 22 rebounds.

Four players scored in double figures for the Raiders. Denise Bussie scored 17 points. Terry Bailey had 15, Evette Lyman added 12 and Dawn Byrd put in 10.

The Raiders also dominated the Spanish River contest. Frost said the girls played their best game defensively.

Again the same four girls reached double figures: Bussie, 27; Bailey, 19; Lyman, 14; and Byrd, 10.

Raiders drop close one to Martin

BELLE GLADE — By the narrowest of margins, the Glades Central Raiders dropped their third game of the season, 50-49, to Martin County in the Glades Central gym, Saturday, Jan. 28.

The loss dropped the Raiders one notch in state Class 3A standings to fifth. The team's overall record now stands at 17-3.

Earlier in the week on Friday, Jan. 27, the Raiders rolled over Spanish River at home, 101-23.

Coach Harold Taylor said that while the team's last two defeats have been very disappointing, goals for the future are still aimed at the top.

"We have seven games left in the regular season and six in the playoffs to win the state championship. We want to go 13-0," he said.

The Raiders have made too many physical and mental errors in recent weeks, Taylor said. He expressed confidence that the team can overcome these errors in the future.

One thing going for the Raiders, Taylor said, is the help of video tapes of recent performances. Thanks to the tapes, the players have seen what they have been doing wrong, and are working to improve.

The Martin County game was a nail biter from start to finish.

The momentum switched back and forth in the final minutes. First Glades Central surged from behind to take the lead, then Martin County regained the advantage.

With just about a minute left, Martin's Harold Williams hit a three-point play to give his team a one-point edge.

The Raiders brought the ball up for one last try with 34 seconds left, but with big man Rhondy Weston on the bench with five fouls, they could only manage a desparate 30-foot jumper which went awry.

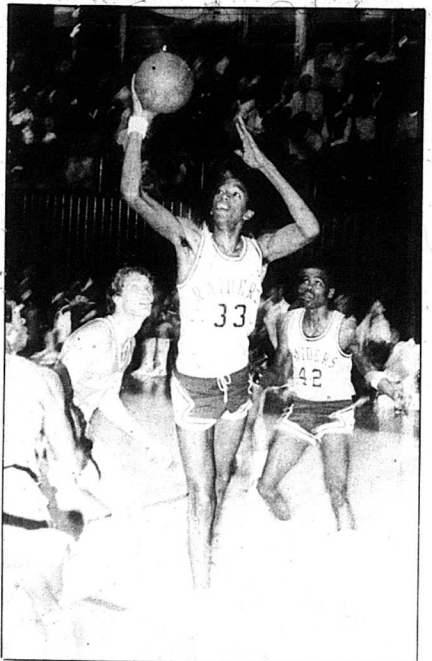

Taylor said his team simply had a poor game.

The second quarter was "just a disaster," he added. Martin scored 22 of their 50 points in this quarter alone.

The Martin County press came alive in the second quarter. Taylor said his Raiders had some problems with the press that "we just shouldn't have had."

Taylor also acknowledged that in Martin County the Raiders were playing an exceptional team. The Class 4A school took home a

Escaper still at large

BELLE GLADE—An escapee from the Glades Correctional Institute was still at large as of Tuesday, Jan. 31.

Detective Steve Haller, of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Glades Substation, said Bill Stacey, 52, had not been apprehended.

Stacey escaped from a work detail as it walked from Airport Park back to GCI, on Monday, Jan. 23.

Haller said officials had no leads yet.

Stacey is originally from Belle Glade and has family in the area.

He is described as 5-foot-8, 157 pounds, black, dark complexion and medium build. Stacey is considered armed and dangerous.

Anyone having information regarding Stacey's whereabouts should contact Haller at 996-1670 or Crimestoppers at 690-TIPS.

Homework hotline

Students now have a place to go or a hotline number to call when help is needed on homework assignments through the new Homework Assistance Program offered through the school system's Department of Adult and Community Education.

This program links students and parents with the services of certified classroom teachers after school hours for the purpose of working on homework assignments. This service is available to students in grades K-8.

If a student needs help with an assignment while at home, he or she has access to a certified teacher by calling a Homework Hotline number. This service is provided for students in grades 7-12.

Homework assistance schools are located conveniently throughout the county. This program is provided free to students.

In the Glades area, the hotline number Monday through Thursday from 6 to 8 p.m. is 996-4947.

Computer conference slated in Lakeland

The Florida Agribusiness Computer Conference and Trade Show will be Tuesday through Thursday, Feb. 7-9, at the Lakeland Civic Center.

Low dose Xray machine available

Belle Glade—An X-ray process recently implemented by Glades General Hospital cuts in half, in most cases, the usual dose of X-ray radiation to patients, according to hospital administrator Patrick Lennon.

The technologically advanced equipment employs a combination of special X-ray film and an "intensifying screen." The screen, a thin sheet of phosphorescent material which is placed between the patient and the film, concentrates X-rays into more intense light rays which are more easily "seen" by the film.

This allows a sharp reduction in patient radiation exposure without sacrificing image quality of the X-ray, Lennon said.

The new process comes at a time of increased concern by government and consumer groups with radiation dosage and rising health care costs. "The radiologist's objective is to use as little radiation as possible while still producing a readable X-ray," Lennon said. "This new X-ray screen and film system greatly reduces patient dosage and at the same time gives a useable image. It also enables us to increase X-ray tube life and thus help hold the line on hospital costs."

Pahokee citizens of year honored

By TOM KISKEN

PAHOKEE—Pahokee's citizens of the year are R.D. Santerfeit and Julia Johnson.

The couple, 7 Lakeside Circle, were honored for their continuous service to the community at the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner banquet, Friday, Jan. 27.

"We're really very proud of this," Santerfeit said in accepting the award.

"I was shocked," said Johnson after the banquet. "I had no idea."

A list of the two's community activities which chose the couple, said he thought this was the first year a husband-and-wife team had won the award.

"They deserved it equally," Hatton said. "They work like a team."

A list of the two's community activities shows why they were honored. First the activities they do together:

Pahokee Youth Baseball Association; Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors (Santerfeit is vice president and chairman of the industrial development committee); Pahokee High School Advisory Board; Pahokee High School Athletic Boosters (Santerfeit is president).

Palm Glades Girl Scout Council (Johnson is Glades area coordinator); Prince Theater Fund (Santerfeit is chairman); Civic Pride Association and the Farm Bureau.

Santerfeit is also a member of: the Vestry in the Church of the Holy Nativity; Elks; Lion's Club; Rotary and the Eckerd Foundation.

Johnson is a member of the Saint Martha's Guild in the Church of Holy Nativity; and Pahokee's Code Enforcement Board.

Finally the end. Well, not quite. The couple is also planning to begin a youth soccer league in the autumn.

In addition, Santerfeit is publisher and editor for the Glades Trend, while Johnson works for Hatton Properties.

"We do keep pretty busy," Santerfeit said with a laugh. The two just try to help where they can, he added.

"Primarily its the old find a need and fill it situation," Santerfeit summarized.

Many of the couple's activities are aimed at the youth. "They're the ones that will be able to change this community," Johnson said.

Santerfeit chimed in, "A lot centered around youth because we have the philosophy that youth are the future."

With their youth baseball program coming back for its second year this summer and the planned soccer league in the fall, the couple have helped fill afternoons for many children.

The baseball league was the first of its kind in Pahokee in about ten years, Santerfeit said, noting that more than 100 kids participated in the program.

Both mentioned that while the recognition of the citizen of the year is nice, the spotlight is a new and bit uncomfortable feeling.

As a journalist Santerfeit commented he is more used to being on the other side of the lights.

"It's satisfying, but I'm not accustomed to it. I'd rather stay out of the limelight," he said.

Johnson emphasized that publicity was the last thing they were after when they decided to become involved in the community.

"It made me feel good that they recognized me...but I do what I do because I enjoy it," he said.

Pahokee Chamber sets goals, reviews progress

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce honored past achievements and eyed future goals at their 33rd annual dinner banquet held Friday, Jan. 27, at the Lake Club.

Chamber members who served the community in an especially noteworthy fashion were honored during the meeting.

1983 Chamber President Diane Hall was among those honored Current President Jim Bennett presented her the past president's plaque. He pointed to Hall's work in remodeling the chamber office and in beautifying Pahokee as just some of the evidence of her effectiveness as president.

"She can step down with the assurance that she's done a fine job," he said.

Special achievement awards, showing the chamber's appreciation of a lifetime of service, were given to Frank Steinberger and C.R. Wetherington.

Never insult an alligator until after you cross the river.

Steinberger is retiring from his work as administrator of Everglades Memorial Hospital in April. Wetherington retired as owner of the Wetherington Funeral Home in September.

The culmination of the honors came with the presentation of the Citizen of the Year and Distinguished Service awards.

R.D. Santerfeit and Julia Johnson were honored as Citizen of the Year.

Dr. Harris M. Blumberg was given the distinguished service plaque.

Other presentations included the holiday decorating awards given to the Pahokee Housing Authority and to Dr. and Mrs. Hatton.

After past accomplishments had been recognized chamber members turned their eyes to the future.

Officers and directors for 1984 were installed. Officers included: Jim Bennett, president; Santerfeit, vice president; Lynda Moss, treasurer; and Jeana M. Reeves, secretary.

Other officers are: Lucy Baines, Hall, Ray Hatton II, Johnson, Mike Poza, Ted Gallo, John Pender, Dale Milita and Walter Rashley. Bennett spoke at the dinner about what the chamber can do for the community during the next year. He pledged a more active role.

"We've got to support our merchants they need our help," he said.

Bennett urged directors to become involved in the growth of the community. "I would like people to come and live in what I consider the greatest town in the United States."

The chamber can help community businesses, if chamber members work with directors, Bennett said. "I hope most of all you tell us how the chamber can help you in 1984."

The results of a questionnaire distributed to all chamber members will greatly influence the chamber's actions over the next year, Bennett said. The questionnaire asks for opinions on several issues facing the community.

As of Monday, 28 answers to the questionnaire had been received. Bennett said he expected final results later in the week.

In the most decisive response so far, 100 percent questioned said the city's water needs im-

Just over 95 percent said the chamber should work to insure city ordinances concerning transient salespeople and street vendors are enforce and that fees and licenses are up to date.

91 percent of chamber members said out-of-town door-to-door salespersons should register with the chamber before canvassing.

And over 90 percent favored a city manager in Pahokee.

Between old and the new was a time for a little humor. Jack Taylor, of St. Louis, better known as the Hon. Timothy Hays, self-proclaimed mayor of Whoopup, Missouri.

Taylor set the pace for his featured speech at the banquet with his opening line, "I really appreciate that sitting ovation."

With stories of life back in Whoopup, Taylor kept the crowd laughing for his entire speech. He ended just as he began with one final joke: "Never insult an alligator until after you cross the river."

A SPECIAL recognition award was given to retiring Everglades Memorial administrator, Frank Steinberger.

Principal receives Pahokee service award

PAHOKEE—In five short years the Pahokee Elementary School has climbed a long way.

The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce recognized this journey and the man who engineered it by naming principal of the school, Dr. Harris M. Blumberg winner of the annual distinguished service award.

"Of all the things I've ever gotten this will be the most treasured," Blumberg said.

Ray Hatton II, member of the committee which selected Blumberg, said it was an easy choice. The principal has done an exceptional job, he commented.

While the committee may have had an easy choice, Blumberg certainly didn't know who was the obvious winner. "You could have knocked me over with the feather. As they began to introduce the winner I was looking around the crowd to see who had won it," he said.

The distinguished service award is given to that person who has done outstanding work for a number of years. Blumberg is that man, Hatton said, pointing at the principal's record of achievement:

'We've done all that as a team. You can see the pride and respect in the students' faces.

—Service Award winner Dr. Harris M. Blumberg

School students have gained some 55 points (on a scale of 100) in reading on the Student Statewide Assessment Tests (SSAT).

In 1977 reading scores on the SSAT averaged at 35. This past year the average was 90.

Students averaged 49 in writing scores in 1977. By 1983, the scores had risen 47 points.

The most modest increase was in arithmetic where scores soared a mere 31 points, from 64 to 95 in 1983.

"We've done all that as a team," Blumberg said, crediting students, faculty and the community itself for the dramatic improvement.

Blumberg noted that he announced the award and his personal congratulations in Monday morning's school announcements.

Blumberg said that when he came to Pahokee Elementary School five years ago he set goals to improve: school pride both on campus and in the community; discipline, appearance, and, most important of all, achievement.

Substantial ground was made toward all goals, Blumberg said. One in particular which stands out is school pride.

"You can see the pride and respect in the students' faces," he said.

The community's pride in the school and in their youth, Blumberg noted, is proven by their choice for the distinguished service award.

"We've gotten a lot of support from our parents," he added.

Noting that all specified areas for improvement were in some way related to student achievement, Blumberg said that by upgrading an area such as pride the overall product was bettered.

The school has improved to the point where Blumberg says it is comparable with any other. "I would certainly say that we rank among the top elementary schools," he said.

Before coming out to Pahokee, Blumberg, who lives at 119 First St., Canal Point with his son Adam, worked out of Palm Beach County School Board's West Regional Office in Belle Glade as a reading consultant.

He had also been regional language arts consultant for the Florida Child Migratory Compensatory Program, now known as ECIA, out of Fort Lauderdale.

Blumberg has a doctorate, masters and bachelor's degree in varying fields of psychology. All degrees were earned at Temple University, in Philadelphia.

Experiment Station honors 50 years of service

BELLE GLADE — Back in 1933 a young man named Maceo Golson was hired as an agricultural laborer for the Everglades Experiment Center in Belle Glade.

Some 50 years later on Friday, Jan. 27, Golson was honored in a retirement party at the Center, now known as the Agricultural Research and Education Center. Fellow employees and supervisors gathered to say goodbye to the man who officially retired Tuesday, after a half-century with the company.

Dr. Joe Goode, director of the center, said, "He was one of the finest workers this experimental center ever had."

Goode presented

Golson a book of letters from friends and supervisors commending his service. Golson also received a cane knife in recognition of his many hours of working in the experimental center's fields, a $100 bill and a leisure chair. A 50-year pin from the company is also on the way.

Of the chair, Goode said, "I'm sure it won't be used, Maceo never could sit for very long."

Golson, 70, 600 SW. 11th St., Belle Glade, said it felt strange to be retiring after working for so long.

Not the type to take it easy for too long, Golson said he was sure he could find plenty to do after Tuesday's retirement. "I've got a bunch of lawn mowers at the house which need fixing."

Golson spent his entire adult life working with the experimental center, starting when he was only 20.

An auto mechanic with the center since 1954, Golson said that back when he first joined the center there were only two or three trucks. Today, the center has more than 20.

Belle Glade has also seen its share of changes, Golson noted. Fifty years ago, the town was little more than a spot on the map, with nothing but dirt roads, he said.

Golson noted that he's grown right along with the town. He said relatives have asked him and his wife Mary to move out to the coast. However, he affirmed that Belle Glade is and always will be home.

Family is a big reason Golson has become a permanent part of the Glades. With a family of three children, he said, he wanted to insure a stable life for his kids. In addition, Golson said his work was very satisfying. "I always loved mechanical work."

Fellow employees also made the experimental center a special place, Golson said. "It will be very hard to say goodbye."

For his first 20 years with the experimental center, Golson worked with experimental crops. In 1954, he began work as a mechanic's helper and eventually was promoted to an auto mechanic position.

For the past two years, he served as auto equipment repair foreman.

When you have these energy savers added, we'll subtract part of the cost.

Ceiling Insulation

An Efficient Cooling/Heating System

An Efficient Water Heater

An Efficient Window Treatment

FPL will actually pay you to conserve electricity four ways.

Our Cooling & Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to $600 towards the cost of having an older, inefficient air conditioning system or heat pump replaced with a qualifying high efficiency system.

Our Ceiling Insulation Incentive. FPL will pay up to $300 towards the cost of having ceiling insulation installed.

Our Water Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to $400 towards the cost of having an inefficient water heater modified or replaced with a solar water heater, water heating heat pump or heat recovery system.

Our Window Treatment Incentive. FPL will pay up to $150 towards the cost of having solar-reflective film, solar screens and certain types of awnings and shutters installed.

Anniversary Week honors scout volunteers

This month the Boy Scouts of America celebrates its 74th anniversary with Glades District, Gulf Stream Council, hosting a number of events locally. Scouting Anniversary Week will be observed nationally February 5-11.

An estimated 25 Tiger Cubs, 300 Cub Scouts, 250 Boy Scouts and 75 Explorers of Glades District, Gulf Stream Council join their counterparts across the country in marking the anniversary week.

A council spokesman said the week will open and close with religious services. Scout Sunday will be observed February 5 and the Scout Sabbath on February 11. Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers will participate in religious services at their places of worship and will be encouraged to wear their uniforms for the occasion.

National theme for 1984 is "Catch the Scouting Spirit." Special emphasis is being placed on appreciation ceremonies for the more than one million adult volunteers who are registered, nationally, with the Boy Scouts of America.

"We've more than 125 volunteers working with young people in our district," Rob Carver, district Scout executive, said. "This year, we would like to take time out and let them know how much we appreciate their services to our community and nation."

Volunteer adult leaders serve at all levels of the BSA in 413 councils across the country. Volunteers also give invaluable service to the movement through their involvement on executive boards and committees at regional and national levels.

"Without the devoted volunteer and the religious and community groups that select them, there would be no Boy Scouts of America program to enrich the lives of nearly 3½ million youth members," said Rob Carver.

Glades students make PBJC honors list

A total of 984 full-time students at Palm Beach Junior College have been named to the academic honors list for the Fall 1983 term.

To be considered full-time, the student must have been enrolled for a minimum of 12 semester hours.

To make the academic honors list, a student must have earned a 3.0 grade-point average (B average) for the term.

Most students at PB-JC are from Palm Beach County or cities near the county. But there are a number from other Florida locations, from out of state and from other nations.

Glades residents making the honors list include:

Belle Glade: Henry

Alava, Wanda Cheek, Carol Faust, Octavio Garcia, David Lakatos, Jacqueline Lewis, Robert Mitchell, Catherine Rollison, Joan Serkin, Annelore Stahl-smith, Mark Wood-ham.

South Bay: Suzette Blake, Winnifred Mc-Carthy, Elaine Smith, Pahokee: Willola Tyson, Trudy Watkins.

Helicopter to land at school

SOUTH BAY - First grade students at Rosendale Elementary have a treat in store Wednesday, Feb. 1 at 10 a.m.

According to Principal Earlyne Harrell, a Palm Beach County Sheriff's Aviation Department helicopter will make an appearance for the students. Lt. Ray White of the Aviation Department will give a demonstration for the students.

Harrell said the students have been working to meet pupil progression standards. She said 19 students are entering level four, Helicopters and Gingerbread and 25 students are presently in level four. Nine students have completed the book.

"This will be a hands-on learning experience for students reading in Helicopters and Gingerbread and a motivation for students who have yet to reach level four," Harrell said.

Following the helicopter demonstration, students will be served gingerbread cookies and punch. As a follow-up activity, they will write language experiences stories, do art work depicting their experiences and write thank you notes to the sheriff's department.

The event was coordinated by Harrell, School Counselor Nancy Buchanan and Primary Resource Teacher Juanita Malone.

Glades Cataract Clinic announced

The Glades Cataract Clinic, under the supervision of Dr. Scott L. Geller, cataract specialist, and Dr. L. G. Vaughan, Jr., local optometrist, opens Thursday, Jan. 19, at 830 E. Sugarland Highway.

Among those already helped by Dr. Geller are Mabel Cooper and Herman Ernst.

Cooper, who had a cataract removed by a Miami eye surgeon, came to Dr. Geller after a year of waiting because she still could not see well.

"The reason was apparent to me at once," said Geller. "A secondary cataract had formed after her initial cataract was removed."

Cooper reported the procedure took only 10 minutes. "There was nothing to it. It was a miracle. I could see the next day, and to think I waited a year."

Ernest, 81, had suffered an injury to his right eye at age 27, which caused him to gradually lose his sight.

"Thirteen years ago a Chicago eye surgeon told him that nothing could be done."

Then at the urging of his daughter, he was examined by "Dr. Geller. "The problem was cataract," said Geller, "something that is more easily remedied than most people realize."

After a serious thought, Ernest decided to let Dr. Geller fix his eye.

"It only took 25 minutes and I felt no pain with the local (injected) anesthetic," said Ernest. "I could hardly believe it after all those years. What a wonderful Christmas present."

At the time of the surgery, Geller implanted a tiny intraocular lens. "The lens implant does away with the need for thick cataract glasses, and can only be used by eye surgeons with specialized, advanced training," said Geller.

The Glades Cataract Clinic is one of the few in the state that specializes in lens implant surgery. "Since we limit our practice to cataract, we can concentrate on perfection of the most advanced techniques," said Geller.

One technique Geller uses is called phacoemulsification, which dissolves a cataract with high frequency sound waves. This technique lends itself to office surgery, thus eliminating the need for hospitalization in many patients.

"One of the services we will be offering, aside from acceptance of insurance as payment in full, is limousine service for senior citizens," Geller said. "You would be surprised how many people literally stay in the dark because transportation is not available."

The limousine service will deliver patients scheduled for cataract surgery from the Glades to the coast. Surgical techniques are performed at hospitals in either Fort Myers or Lehigh Acres.
